TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 17, 1894.

Sun rises to-morrow at 5:23; sun sets 6:27. High water 6:35 a. m. and 6:57 p. m.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this season fair; southeasterly winds.

THE WASHINGTON BOARD OF TRADE. At the directors' meeting of the Washington Board of Trade yesterday the chairman of the committee on membership, submitted a report upon 23 names, which had been before the committee. Twenty of these names were those of residents of the District, and there could be no question of eligibility to membership.

On consideration of the names of Messrs. Henry Strauss, Mayor, Isaac Eichberg, and James R. Caton, of this city, the committee stated it was unable to reach a definite conclusion as to the eligibility of these gentlemen, owing to the somewhat ambiguous wording of the first section of article 2 of the by-laws, relating to membership. The committee, therefore, referred these names back to the board of directors, with a request for definite instructions as to the eligibility for membership in the Board of Trade of persons residing outside of the District of Columbia.

Col. Britton offered a resolution, which was at once adopted, "that it is the sense of this board that the by-laws contemplate a club for residents of the District of Columbia or those doing business therein." The three names of Alexandria residents were then sent back to the committee for a further report.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade will be held at 7:30 this evening. The principal business to come before the board will be the consideration of the report of the committee on parks and reservations relative to the occupancy of a part of the Potomac flats by the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railroad. The first report of this committee was sent back to it at a meeting March 27. That report recommended that the entire Potomac flats be reserved for a national park, and that the occupancy of no part be granted to any individual or corporation for any purpose whatever. It expressed especial opposition to the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon road, the route of which contemplated not only the occupancy of a part of the flats, but also of B street from Twenty-sixth street to the Baltimore and Potomac station.

The committee on membership is also expected to submit a report on the subject of election by the Board of Trade, as honorary members, on application of officers of boards of trade and chambers of commerce of other principal cities of the United States.

THE DISCOVERY OF THE RUINS OF BELVOIR.—The companion mansion of Mount Vernon in the late colonial days of Virginia was Belvoir, and the Fairfax family of Belvoir and the Washingtons of Mount Vernon made a constant interchange of courtesies. The mansion was burned during the revolutionary war, and, as George William Fairfax, the owner, never returned from England after independence, the plantation fell into ruin, part of the arable land returned again to the forest and the site of the mansion has been overgrown for over a century. The place still, however, possesses a historic interest, and Mr. Stacy Snowden recently went over the whole plantation with a view to discover the remains of the old mansion. He found at last the remains of some brick walls on a high hill, giving a superb outlook upon the Potomac, and he traced and cleared the 24-inch walls, with cellars, wells, etc., until the ground plan of the ancient mansion became visible, and then found the wall, also, of great thickness, which surrounded the gardens and grounds of the mansion, covering several acres.

THE ERRATIC ACTIONS OF AN ELDERLY woman on the electric railway bridge over Hunting creek yesterday afternoon attracted considerable attention and produced some consternation among the numerous small children who were out on the bridge with their nurses enjoying the balmy spring weather. The woman pretended she was contemplating suicide, and some who witnessed her capers were apprehensive that she might take a plunge into the waters of the creek. She finally strayed to the southern end of the structure and when last seen (at ten minutes past 6 o'clock) was about two miles down the track straying in the direction of the Dyke. It is generally supposed she is a well-known resident of the city who periodically becomes irresponsible and wanders through the streets tantalized by boys.

A NEW STRAMER.—President T. S. Flood, Capt. C. R. Lewis and Capt. W. C. Geoghegan, all of the Maryland and Virginia Steamboat Company, returned to Baltimore last night from a visit to Philadelphia to inspect the new steamer the company is building there. They are much pleased with the boat in every particular and consider her a handsome craft. Yesterday they christened her the Potomac. She will run along both sides of that river, from its mouth to Washington, on her regular route between Baltimore and Washington. Capt. W. C. Geoghegan, who is identified with the route, will be her commander. The builders expect to turn her over to the company between June 15 and July 1.

DEATH OF MR. CORSA.—Mr. Edward S. Corsa, a well-known ship carpenter of this city, died at his residence on Pitt street at an early hour this morning after a short illness. The deceased was a native of New York State and came to this city from New Haven, Conn., fourteen or fifteen years ago to work on the large schooners then being built here, and has resided in Alexandria ever since. He was a quiet and good citizen, and the many friends and acquaintances he had made since his removal to this community will regret exceedingly to learn of his death.

THE PASSOVER.—Passover, or Pesach, the first of the three great annual feasts of Israel instituted by Moses, begins on next Saturday and will continue for one week. It is commemorative of the deliverance of the Jews from Egypt. The festival is celebrated on the anniversary of the exodus from Egypt, that is the fourteenth day of Nisan, the period of the first full moon in the spring. Services appropriate to the occasion will be held in the Synagogue in this city.

An old negro fisherman named James Madison died yesterday morning after several days of terrible suffering from lockjaw, caused by running a rusty nail into his foot while at work on the fish wharf last week.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

There were no cases for trial in the Police Court this morning.

Only two lodgers sought sleeping quarters in the station house last night. The assessments of property published yesterday were of real not personal property.

The U. S. tug Triton this morning took a large gun to the Indian Head proving ground.

The only business transacted in the Corporation Court to-day was the granting of several liquor licenses.

Mrs. Clara Snyder has sold to Mr. J. P. Robinson the lot and brick dwelling on the west side of Pitt street, north of Duke, for $3,600.

The stockholders of the Washington National Building and Loan Association met at the office of Judge Norton in this city this evening.

The funeral of Mrs. Harry Darling took place this morning from St. Mary's Church, when solemn high mass was said by Rev. Father Cutler.

Mr. Wm. Markley, formerly of this city, died at his home in Iowa last week. He will be remembered by all the older citizens of Alexandria.

The Gertrude Yacht Club's yacht Americus has been overhauled and put in complete order and is now one of the prettiest little boats on the river.

The contractor for erecting the new iron bridge over Hunting creek says if the good weather continues he will complete his work in two weeks.

The ladies of St. Paul's Church are busily at work making arrangements for furnishing the rectory of that church for their new rector Rev. P. P. Phillips.

The dwelling of Mr. J. W. Daily at Daysville, Fairfax county, was destroyed by fire on Sunday night. The property was insured in the Fairfax Mutual Company.

Mr. Walter F. Crowder, formerly of this city, died on St. George's Island last week. He was a son of Capt. Thos. Crowder, who will be remembered by all the old residents of the First ward.

Major George Duffey, Commissioner of the Revenue, has received a copy of the law imposing a tax on the capital employed in building and loan associations. The law went into effect on the first of this month.

The A. L. I. are making preparations for going to Fredericksburg on May 10th to take part in the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the Mary Washington monument. The weekly drill last night was largely attended.

After the funeral services of the late Senator Vance in the Capitol yesterday evening the remains were taken to the Pennsylvania depot and sent to North Carolina over the R. & D. R. R. The remains passed through this city last night.

At least twice has it appeared in public print that at the entertainment to be given in this city soon for the benefit of the poor, "tableaux based on Tenneyson's Paradise and the Peri will be given." It is hoped this statement will not appear any more.

Old Dominion Commandery, K. T., and large delegations from both of the Masonic lodges of this city will go to Leesburg on the 24th to take part in the laying of the corner stone of the new court house there. The Commandery held a drill last night.

The attorneys for both the Driving Park and the Jackson City race courses people went to Warrenton to-day where the injunction cases against the owners of both courses to prevent each from interfering with the other were set for a hearing before Judge Keith.

A man came here yesterday evening from Washington and sold a bicycle to a young man for $15. Lieut. Smith suspected something wrong and went to Washington where he ascertained that the man was named H. D. Chester, alias W. O. Greenboro, and that the bicycle had been stolen. He located the man who was to-day arrested.
